REPORT TEST

MY RELATIONSHIPS

My Relationships Test is a multidimensional tool used in personality testing in the context of numerous areas of your private and professional life. This method allows for an accurate and detailed description of your personality in terms of how you act and function in interpersonal relationships resulting from an individual profile determined by your age, gender and experience. The tool identifies the characteristics of behaviour in the area of building interpersonal relationships. It examines the value of kindness, willingness to be with people and build interpersonal contacts, as well as the assertive attitude in relations. The report you are holding in your hand presents typical ways of behaving, feeling and thinking in various interpersonal situations in your private life and at work. The test describes your results in five sub-dimensions:

Reading the report you will find answers to a number of questions about your needs and how to function in relations with other people. You will learn about your reactions, behaviours, attitudes, beliefs, strengths and areas for development. The proposed guidelines refer, among others, to your interpersonal, emotional, intellectual and physical development.

This report offers comprehensive knowledge about yourself, which can be translated into your goals and decisions in your personal and professional life.

HOW TO INTERPRET THE REPORT

When analysing your results, pay attention to the fact that some subdimensions may present your natural traits and other subdimensions may provide information about your learned reactions. It's completely natural. In your everyday functioning you mostly apply your innate traits, talents and strong sides.

However, sometimes the position that you take or the role that you assume in a team (privately and professionally) requires from you certain behaviours. After some time, innate reactions become so obvious that you accept them as your natural reactions.

When analysing the results, decide which of the subdimensions show what is innate to you and which ones show a developed way of being. Additionally decide which traits you would like to keep working on, which ones you would like to start working on and which ones you are fully satisfied with.

Pay attention to the fact that in some of the assessments you may have a generally high result in your overall score, however, particular subdimensions (one or two) may show moderate or low scores.

Example:

The overall assessment score, which is the average of the subdimension results, describes the global image of a person in action, combining the results of all the subdimensions into one general score.

MY RELATIONSHIPS

It is possible to receive a high result on the scale of MY RELATIONSHIPS and simultaneously receive a low result in one of the subdimensions - INTERPERSONAL CONTACTS.

They are helpful and willingly maintain close relationships with people, however, the desire to search for new interpersonal contacts is limited, which is manifested by a low score in this subdimension. This may be due to e.g. the intensity of interpersonal contacts required by the job position.

MY RELATIONSHIPS - A

SOCIAL APPROVAL - A

SOCIAL APPROVAL - A

The dimension Social Approval describes the tendency to present yourself in a better light to achieve greater social acceptance. It is connected with the willingness to behave in a socially desirable and acceptable manner. The need to win social approval is also demonstrated in the test situations by attributing to yourself positive or commendable behaviour, as well as negating the presence of undesirable attitudes or behaviour within yourself. To some extent it overlaps with conformism and increases the tendency to alter or embellish your own way of behaviour.

Very low result

Your result on the Social Approval scale is very low in comparison with other people. It means that you are a kind of person who is absolutely not driven by the need for social acceptance or you want to present yourself with your answers as a person who is completely unaffected by social influences.
